ANNUAL BULL SALE

MONDAY, MARCH 30, 2026 - 1 P.M. MDT

FIVE STATES LIVESTOCK AUCTION - CLAYTON, NM

WELCOME

FELLOW CATTLE PRODUCERS,

Thank you for your interest in our breeding program and our bulls.

Wow, what a year it has been for the beef business.

High cattle prices like we have never seen in the history of the cattle business, and the experts say it will remain that way for a while.

There has never been a better time to invest in good bulls to improve your cowherd. Bulls should be considered an investment and not just as an expense.

This is a real deep set of bulls, that have been developed on native pasture and fed a good growing ration to display their potential while keeping their future in mind.

We would like to welcome the Krebs family who have 6 bulls in the sale. Ty and Matt are close friends and they have been buying cattle from us since they started with their Hereford Cattle for their kids. The bulls fit right in, carry much of the same bloodlines and have been raised right alongside our bulls.

Thanks to all of friends and neighbors who help make this sale happen.

Finally, a special thanks to the Ted Zieman family for putting in a great set of black baldy replacement heifers in the sale.

If we can be of any assistance to you before the sale just let us know.

Sincerely,

The Copeland & Sons Family

JCS PAP TEST GUARANTEE

We guarantee all bulls will pass a PAP test for those living in high altitudes. Buyer can take these bulls home to altitude and wait 30 days. That should be time enough to get an accurate pap test. Get the bull tested, if the bull fails, we will come get the bull and refund the purchase price.

YIELD MATTERS:

POSITIONING FOR THE FUTURE

Blake A. Foraker, Ph.D., Assistant Professor in Meat Science, Texas Tech University

Today's U.S. beef industry rewards heavyweight, high-quality carcasses — and producers have responded. Carcass weights are at record highs, and Prime percentages continue to climb. Packers operate with limited chain space and high fixed overhead costs; there are only so many shackles on the rail. When processing capacity is constrained, the most direct way to increase value is to put more pounds on each hook. Bigger carcasses help spread fixed costs and keep plants efficient. At the consumer level, the USDA Quality Grade system works. Prime and Choice consistently deliver a better eating experience, and the market pays for it. Quality Grade will remain an important driver of value. But as the industry has pushed carcass weight and marbling higher, another opportunity has emerged — carcass yield.

Most cattle are marketed on grids that include both Quality Grade and Yield Grade. While Quality Grade effectively predicts eating satisfaction, Yield Grade is much less precise at predicting true red meat yield. Research shows the current USDA Yield Grade explains only 0 to 40% of the variation in actual retail yield. That limited accuracy is one reason Yield Grade premiums and discounts are modest compared to Prime-Choice-Select spreads. When yield cannot be measured precisely, the industry defaults to “make them bigger.” More total pounds help offset uncertainty. However, additional weight late in the feeding period often comes in the form of fat. Today, nearly 30% of fed cattle are Yield Grade 4 or 5 — once considered undesirable, now increasingly common. Producing excess fat without regard to muscle requires additional feed, water, time, and capital. As resources tighten and efficiency matters more than ever, the question becomes clear: are we maximizing true red meat yield, or simply adding fat?

In 2023, the National Cattlemen's Beef Association reconvened a task force to address carcass yield measurement. The group includes packers, feeders, cow-calf producers, branded beef programs, and researchers. Recent work has demonstrated that computed tomography (CT) scanning can accurately measure carcass composition — muscle, fat, and bone — without destroying the carcass (Figure 1). While CT is not practical in-line at commercial speeds, it provides a gold-standard reference to validate new technologies that measure the 3-D shape of carcasses and may predict yield at chain speed. Efforts are also underway to measure the 3-D shape of live cattle using chute-side radar technology, which may help develop a red meat yield trait for inclusion in future genetic evaluation programs. Currently, the Beef Checkoff is supporting a 600-head study evaluating the relationship between CT-determined composition and boxed beef yield. The goal is simple: better measurement leads to better market signals.

U.S. cattlemen have successfully and impressively improved the quality of the products they produce. The next opportunity is improving how we measure and reward true carcass yield. Bulls that sire cattle combining marbling with muscle and compositional efficiency will position commercial cattlemen for long-term profitability.

NEW TECHNOLOGY

WILL CHANGE HOW RED MEAT YIELD IS MEASURED AT HARVEST

Dale Woerner and his team at Texas Tech university have developed 3D technology that looks at muscle shape, width, and dimension to give a more accurate reflection of total red meat yield versus using Rib eye area

Rib eye area measurements and red meat yield are actually drifting more apart according to Texas Tech.

The system we use now is from the 1960s era.

So to make a long story short, MUSCLE MATTERS. Cattle with visual muscle shape may be worth a lot more, perhaps as soon as 3 to 5 years.

THESE ARE THE KIND OF CATTLE WE LIKE AND HAVE BEEN RAISING FOR YEARS.

So buying bulls with width and muscle shape could benefit your bottom line in a few years because you have started ahead of the pack.

HOW MUCH CAN YOU AFFORD TO PAY FOR A BULL?

The slaughter bull market has been tremendous and many bulls are bringing 3,000 dollars and much more. There has never been a time when trading up to a new young bull has been this easy.

The old time ranchers have always said a new bull is worth 5 steer calves, and then he is paid for in the first year.

With this formula, 5 steers X $2,500 is $12,500 dollars that can be spent on a new bull.

$12,500 for the new bull minus $4,000 salvage on the old one makes your actual purchase only $8,500.

$8,500 divided by 5 years you own the bull is $1,700 a year to use the bull.

If a bull breeds 120 cows in those 5 years the cost per cow bred is only $70.83.

That does not include all of the genetic merit you have purchased with the bull that should increase weaning weights, increase the kind of replacement heifers he produces that also adds lots of dollars to your bottom line.

• FOR REFERENCE ONLY

- We kick off the 2026 Demand the Brand Bull Sale off with an intriguing herd bull prospect that is a full brother to the top selling horned bull from last year's sale, JCS Eastwood 4862 ET that commanded $28,000 for 1/2 interest going to Nolan Herefords and Decker Herefords. Eastwood was selected as the Reserve Grand Champion Horned Hereford Bull at the 2026 Fort Worth Stock show.
- 5880 is dark red, conservatively marked and ring-eyed son of Churchill High Noon that is a powerfully constructed individual who is built correct from the ground up with a striking look from the side. He is big topped, thick made with impressive muscle shape from end to end with tremendous rib shape and depth and sets down on a big foot.
- His numerical profile indicates top tier growth and superior carcass merit that he possesses that includes his +1.27 REA EPD that ranks in the upper echelon of the breed.
- He is backed by the young and proven donor Maureen 0879, who you will be hearing much more about in the future and elevates the maternal strength that 5880 possesses.
- When you combine the impressive phenotype that 5880 exhibits with his GE-EPD profile and proven pedigree, he sorts himself to the top of the Horned Herd bull prospects.
- Full brother sells as lot 2.
- Ranks in the top 1% for REA; top 6% for CW; top 7% for WW; top 9% for YW; top 10% for BMI; top 12% for M&G and BII; top 13% for CHB; top 19% for SCF.

- 5847 is another full brother to lot 1 and JCS Eastwood 4862 ET that comes to us in a conservative marked package and tremendously eye-appealing design that screams herd bull. He is a stout-made, big-middled bull with an impressive skeletal design with added top shape, foot size, bone and athleticism.
- His numerical profile offers added calving-ease, moderate birth with excellent growth, added fertility and maternal with strong carcass merit.
- Ranks in the top 1% for REA; top 11% for SC.

- This son of the $130,000 valued, Churchill Stanfield who was featured in the early advertisements and for good reason as he is one of the top Horned bulls in the offering. He is a short-marked, dark red and fully pigmented bull that is built correct from the ground up on a big foot that carries his substantial power with ease. 548 is a square hipped, deep and wide-bodied bull that is wide in his pin set, big backed and balances out nicely with a herd bull look and presence.
- He offers superior performance coupled with maternal prowess, added scrotal, and highly marketable carcass merit.
- His numerical package combined with his phenotype and his outcross pedigree makes him an intriguing herd sire prospect.
